BROOKLYN, NEW YORK

The Prizzi Wedding

Supper in honor of Don Corrado's granddaughter and her groom

AFTER THE CAKE

P

Charley P.

The parish on the corner. Every Prizzi marries here.

TO BEGIN

Antipasti

The bride's antipasto

Lemon-marinated mushrooms, salami, olives, artichokes.

Brooklyn arancini

Saffron rice round a mozzarella heart, fried gold, marinara.

Zucchini fritti

Light crisp batter, sea salt and a squeeze of lemon.

SEATING

Who Sits Where

1	Don Corrado
2	Charley and Angelo
7	Maerose. Far from Charley.
?	The lady in lavender

First dance. Both came armed.

FROM THE KITCHEN

The Family Table

Wedding soup

Escarole and tiny veal meatballs in clear chicken brodo.

Don Corrado's baked ziti

Slow sausage sugo, ricotta and mozzarella, baked until blistered.

The old man's favorite. Seconds are not optional.

Veal piccata

Pounded thin, seared fast, white wine, lemon, capers and butter.

Charley's usual.

PICK ONE. CHARLEY CAN'T.

Ice Her? Marry Her?

Ice

Lemon ice

Shaved fine, sharp and cold. Quick, and very clean.

Marry

Wedding amaretti

Crackled almond cookies in icing sugar, tied in tulle.

AT THE SWEET TABLE

The Don's Sweets

The Don, Sunday coffee in the garden.

Confetti almonds

Sugared, five to a bag: health, wealth, happiness, children, long life.

THE DON TAKES FIRST PICK. WAIT.

Eat. Enjoy. Nobody leaves before the cake. Nobody.

Corrado Prizzi

The Toast

White peach Bellini · Espresso, anisette

With the compliments of the family. Envelopes to Angelo at the door.
Printed for the reception, 720 Court Street, Brooklyn, 1985.